

Old World and New World Perspectives in Environmental Philosophy

transatlantic conversations

Edited by
Martin Drenthen & Jozef Keulartz

Contributors
Preface

1. Introduction
Martin Drenthen & Jozef Keulartz: Introduction

Part One: Wilderness and Cultural Landscapes

2. Extracting Culture or Injecting Nature? Rewilding in Transatlantic Perspective
Marcus Hall
3. Restoration and Authenticity Revisited
Marion Hourdequin & David Havlick
4. Conceiving the Earth itself as our Garden
W.S.K. Cameron
5. Wilderness Recognized. Environments Free From Human Control
Robert Scotney

Part Two: Restoration of Value and Meaning to Cultural Ecosystems

6. Cultural Landscapes, Ecological Restoration and the Intergenerational Narrative
Paul Knights
7. Enduring Nature
Glenn Delière
8. Seeking Nature's Permission
Alan Holland
9. Green Managerialism And The Erosion Of Meaning
Simon P. James

Part Three: Wolves and Wildness

10. The Wolf Returns!
Martin Drenthen
11. Eating Wolves
Thomas Thorp
12. Blurring Boundaries: Freedom, Enclosure, and Death
Brian Seitz
13. The Hero, the Wolf, and the Hybrid. Overcoming the Overcoming of Uncultured Landscapes
Nathan Kowalsky

Index